

Work Learn Summer 2020 | Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

As we monitor and respond to the evolving COVID-19 situation, Work Learn's commitment to students and campus partners remains our highest priority. As we are experiencing a high-volume of inquiries, we have pulled together this FAQs to help respond to your Work Learn related questions during this time.

In support of social distancing and UBC's response to the COVID-19 outbreak, we have transitioned all services to online delivery. If you have any questions about Work Learn, please email work.learn@ubc.ca or phone 604-822-4011, from 9AM - 5PM Monday through Friday.

- Are Work Learn Summer 2020 positions still open?

Yes, Work Learn positions for the Summer 2020 are open. Some positions close Monday March 23, but many others have extended their deadline due to UBC's transition to remote working and learning and continue to be posted on CareersOnline. Please check each job posting for specific details.

You can also access CareersOnline for career advising, webinars and event information to support your application to Work Learn and other opportunities during this time.

- How will interviews for WL Summer 2020 take place?

Work Learn is encouraging supervisors to consider conducting remote interviews by leveraging digital technology such as Skype for Business, Zoom, or other platforms during their selection processes if/where possible.

Should you be invited for an interview, make sure to confirm what technology will be used and test your connectivity prior to the interview.

- Will Work Learn Summer 2020 positions be affected by COVID-19 disruptions?

UBC Work Learn is honouring its commitment to funding winter 2019 and summer 2020 opportunities; however this is a continually evolving situation and we continue to monitor the advice from the institutional leadership and government authorities.